ST. DEMETRIOS - OCTOBER 26

Seeking Holiness in Diverse Ways

Christians through the centuries have sought to connect with God in many different ways. Early on, even from the time of St. Paul, we know of people who dedicated their lives to a more secluded and prayerful state. Others, called by the Holy Spirit, went out to preach the Gospel and spread the news of salvation in Christ. Yet, others, felt God's call to feed and clothe the poor. Each one of these ways are expressions of the human desire to fulfill God's call to holiness. Each one does not exclude the other two, but should, rather complement them.

Today, we are faced with the same challenges. Prayer has to rise up to heaven to counteract evil and sin. The Gospel has to be preached, because people around us are ignorant of the Christian Faith. They are especially ignorant of the treasures of spiritual wisdom and guidance they can receive from the Orthodox Church. But, we also have an obligation to help those in need. Helping the needy begins with those immediately close to us. We can be of help as we show compassion, caring, kindness and love to everyone we encounter. Then we may seek to comfort others through material things.

At Holy Transfiguration we have tried over the years to accomplish this call of the Lord through our own sacrifices in time, treasure and talent, offering back to God's work from His Gifts to us. We call this Stewardship! In fact, this is another aspect of our worship of God. The Church has always been "Eucharistic", meaning that we worship God by offering "Thanksgiving" for all He has done and is doing for us.

In the Divine Liturgy, through the prayers of the priest, "you are the Offerer and the Offering, the one who receives and the one who distributes", we recognize that all things belong to God and we accept them as His Gifts to us.

At the point of the Consecration of the Holy Gifts the priest says: "We offer unto you these Gifts from Your own Gifts in all and for all," acknowledging once again on behalf of the people that our offering (our sacrifice) is a Gift from Him that we are merely offering back to Him in worship. This is the moment, however, that we need to offer up, along with the bread and the wine, our own hearts. We need to surrender our whole life to Him asking for His "holiness" in return.

It is this attitude of trust and surrender that God wants from us. His Grace and mercy may come in small ways, but His presence in our lives will be experienced in a special way by each one of us. God is love and will be experienced as love as we open up our hearts to love Him.

The Holy Martyr Longinus the Centurion Celebrated on October 16

The Holy Martyr Longinus the Centurion, a Roman soldier, saw service in Judea under the command of the procurator, Pontius Pilate. During the time of the execution of the Saviour it was the detachment of soldiers under the command of Longinus, which stood watch around Golgotha, at the very foot of the holy Cross.

Longinus and his soldiers were eye-witnesses of the final moments of the earthly life of the Lord, and of the great and awesome portents that appeared at His death. These events jolted the soul of the soldier. Longinus believed then in Christ and before everyone confessed that, "in truth -- this was the Son of God" (Mt. 27: 54). (according to Church tradition, Longinus was that soldier, who with a spear pierced the side of the Crucified Saviour, and from the outflowing of blood and water received healing from an eye affliction).

After the Crucifixion and Burial of the Saviour, Longinus with his company stood watch at the Sepulchre of the Lord. Here the soldiers were given to behold the All-Radiant Resurrection of Christ. The Jews persuaded them with a bribe to bear false witness that His disciples had stolen away the Body of Christ, but Longinus and two of his comrades refused to be seduced by the Jewish gold. Having believed in the Saviour, the soldiers accepted Baptism from the Apostles and decided to forsake military service.

Longinus quit Judea and set out preaching about Christ Jesus the Son of God in his native land, in Cappadocia. His two comrades also followed after him. The fiery words of actual participants of the great occurrences in Judea swayed the hearts and minds of the Cappadocians; Christianity began quickly to spread about in the city and the surrounding villages. Having learned of this, the Jewish elders persuaded Pilate to dispatch a company of soldiers to Cappadocia, to kill Longinus and his comrades. The dispatched company of soldiers arrived in the native village of Longinus; the former centurion himself came out to meet the soldiers and took them to his home. After a meal, the soldiers told about the purpose of their arrival, not knowing -- that the master of the house -- was that very selfsame man, whom they were seeking. Then Longinus and his fellows identified themselves and asked the surprised soldiers, unperturbedly, to do their duty of military service. The soldiers wanted to set free the saints and advised them to flee, but the saints refused to do this, shewing firmness of will to accept suffering for Christ. The holy martyrs were beheaded, and their bodies were buried there where the saints made their final witness, and the cut-off heads were sent on to Pilate. Pilate gave orders to cast the martyrs on the trash-heap outside the city walls. After a certain while a certain blind woman arrived in Jerusalem to pray at the holy places. Saint Longinus appeared to her in a dream and said, that she should find his head and bury it. They led the blind woman to the rubbish heap. Having touched the head of the martyr, the woman was granted sight to her eyes. She reverently conveyed the venerable head to Cappadocia and there gave it burial.

CULTS AND NEW AGE GROUPS

What Came with the Moves

My involvement with the New Age Movement began with influence from the person I was dating at the time. Being involved in the Movement and in the drug culture and the sexual revolution of the sixties himself in spite of claiming to be “Christian,” he influenced me to enter his New Age world by first reading the biblical Apocryphal books, then by indoctrinating me with the “Let It Be” (passivity) mindset promoted by the Beatles song of that very title. His “guidance” led from there to having me read the Bhagavad Gita, the Hindu “bible” in its entirety. Shortly afterward a friend took me deeper into the Movement by further guiding my reading and various experiences, which led ultimately to my involvement in Wicca (white witchcraft). Through other acquaintances I also gained a detailed understanding of the Church of Satan, although I did not join it.

Both high school and college required studying and experiencing comparative religion. Further, as a primary source for information for a research paper on controversial issues in a speech class, I interviewed Lady Santana, High Priestess of the House of Ravenwood, the most prominent Wicca coven in Atlanta. Because I had researched her coven extensively beforehand, I was able to discern clearly the differences between Wiccan and Christian beliefs and concepts. I also knew when here answers to my questions were intentionally false in order to conceal much of the truth about their activities.

Not brought up with a solid Christian foundation, I was easily swayed as I searched. Thus I wavered between Christianity and the non-Christian traditions that in true New Age form I had also accepted.

Still carrying this spiritual confusion, I entered therapeutic massage school, where New Age (i.e. Non-Christian) beliefs and practices were incorporated into the curriculum that was mandatory for graduation. It was called the “integrated” approach. Students were even forced to initial contracts requiring them to “experience” the elements of all of the spiritualities infused into the curriculum. Students who refused to compromise their Christian faith by initialing the contracts were penalized with failing grades. Although I saw and deeply felt the injustice with which they were being treated, with my personal spiritual weakness and confusion I “knuckled under” and initialed the contract in order to graduate. After graduation I searched even more intensely for the spiritual truth that once and for all would end my desperate confusion and frustration. After “bouncing” without success from one Christian faith tradition to another to find answers to my spiritual questions, I finally encountered the Orthodox faith at a Marietta Greek Festival in a book called Orthodoxy and the Religion of the Future by (Fr.) Seraphim Rose, whose spiritual journey had had many similarities to my own. I had finally found the answers for which I had so long and laboriously searched. My journey had finally brought me to my spiritual home and the right direction for spiritual growth.

Christ’s teachings guide us as relevantly today as they did at the time and place in which He gave them to the world. Appropriately we are further advised to “See to it that no-one takes you captive through philosophy and empty deceit, according to human tradition, according to the elemental spirits of the universe, and not according to Christ.” (Col. 2:8) Finally, Christ Himself makes it clear that “Whoever is not with me is against me, and whoever does not gather with me scatters.” (Luke 11:23)

FROM THE PARISH COUNCIL PRESIDENT

Fellow Parishioners,

You have been hearing a lot about stewardship the past few weeks and will continue to hear about it for the remainder of the year. This is an important time of the year in our parish when we have to establish a budget and schedule our activities. As you know, there are three parts of stewardship--Time, Talent and Treasures. We know it takes all three to operate our church. All are equally as important, but the one I would like to discuss with you is Time.

Time is the one we are all on the same playing field with. We all have 24 hours a day, seven days a week and 365 days a year. No one has more, and no one has less. No matter what our job is, what our personal commitments are, we still have the same time resource as anyone else. We can be rich or we can be poor but we have the same amount of time. It is what we do with this time that makes us different.

Certainly there is a balance to life. We do have to work in order to financially support our family and church. We want to visit our relatives in other cities, states or countries. We are involved in school and secular activities. We want to take vacations. But I know there is still a lot of time which we all could give more of to benefit our church.

I get motivated when I see individuals who give so much of their time. Take for example Leo Modenos and all the time he gives chanting or Demetri Miltiades who directs the choir. How about Nick Papleacos, George Matthews, Steve Thompson and Phil Kiritsy who have stayed awake all night preparing the pork for our Homecoming Picnics? What about our Catechism teachers, who not only spend time on Sunday teaching our youth, but also spend many hours preparing their lessons? And what about so many of the ladies who help during the week in the church office - Marty Driscoll, Xanthippe Marsico to name two. I could go on with so many other examples of individuals who give so much of their time. I hope I have not offended those I have not mentioned.

Join me this year in giving back to God what is rightfully His--Time. Demonstrate to your spouse and children that we can all give back to God with a gift that we all have the same amount of. Set the example so that your children will see your actions and will follow in your footsteps. I have always been a firm believer that actions speak louder than words. Act now.

In His service,

Alex Miltiades
